The first Mennonite immigrants in North America settled in Germantown, Pa., in 1683. In 1708 they built their first meetinghouse on donated land. This log building was replaced in 1770 by the present fieldstone building, the oldest Mennonite Church in North America in continuous use.

Foreword

The data of the people is in. Published in this volume, it is now ready to assist the Mennonite Church as it ministers and serves the ever needy world of 1976 and in its inner life as it grows up together toward the fullness and stature found in Jesus Christ.

The purpose of the Mennonite Yearbook is to reflect the life and structure of the Mennonite Church in North America (General Board office in Lombard, Ill.) It further seeks to reflect the fraternal ties which this body has with conferences in other parts of the globe that have emerged as the result of its life and witness to Jesus Christ in those areas. Finally, it reflects the relationships, common projects, and ties which it has with other Mennonite bodies in North America and around the world.

In reviewing the data that has come in from the people several items in the statistical tables are of interest. Table II indicates that the North American membership has increased 1,910 to a total of 103,657. Note, however, that membership in the overseas churches increased by 2,113 to a total of 26,940. In Table III note that one new conference has been added — Conservative Mennonite Conference of York and Adams Counties.

Note also that the people are settling throughout North America and the world. With the establishment of a congregation in Reno, Nevada, only the states of New Hampshire, Utah and Wyoming, Alaska and Hawaii are without established Mennonite congregations. Congregations are already found in all the provinces of Canada. (See Regional Directory of Congregations.) In its overseas ministry the Mennonite Church has added Afghanistan and Peru (Table VI) to the 40 plus countries in which mission and service programs are now being conducted.

The worldwide membership of the Mennonite Church and Brethren in Christ stands at 583,000 (Table VII) and of that number 300,601 reside in North America. The growing edges, however, are the continents of Latin America and Africa which experienced the most rapid growth. These show a combined gain of 18,000 members over the report of one year ago.

Finally, the Christian education efforts of Mennonite congregations in North America reached 6,400 fewer students (See Tables VIII and IX) than reported in the previous year, but giving (Table XII) gained $36.89 to a per member giving rate of $265.50.

The above data of the people is only a beginning of what one can note in this volume. During the year readers will bring together the data of names, places, committees, conferences, dates, numbers, etc., in this volume in many combinations in order to discern the way of the people for the future. That is as it should be for the Mennonite Yearbook is designed to facilitate the life and work of the Mennonite Church. We hope that members of congregations, pastors, conference workers, board and institutional staff persons will find it useful in their varied ministries.

The Mennonite Yearbook could not be a reality without the willing help and assistance of many, many people. Thanks to pastors, conference secretaries, board and institutional staff members, and many more for sharing their up-to-date information with the brotherhood. Due to our mobile society, some of the information recorded in the Mennonite Yearbook goes out-of-date very rapidly. Between the time when this volume goes to press and when it is delivered to the church, it is inevitable that a number of changes will have occurred. To reduce this factor the Mennonite Yearbook runs on a tight, bare-bones production schedule. This schedule means that the Mennonite Publishing House staff must put forth a highly sustained effort over a short period of time. To them the people give their thanks and appreciation for a job well done. — JEH

*Bissexile or Leap Year

The Mennonite Church 1976

By Paul N. Kraybill

General Secretary, Mennonite Church General Board

Another anniversary year — 1976! This time for those who are citizens of the United States. But it comes in the shadow of an anniversary — the 450th of Anabaptism — that we shared with a different group of people, our brothers and sisters whose citizenship does not coincide with political boundaries, but to whom we are bound with a common spiritual heritage.

This close sequence of anniversaries says much about the nearness of the two worlds of Anabaptist Christians — Mennonites. It speaks to the tensions with which Christians of Anabaptist background must live whether their national citizenship is Canadian or United States. We live in the context of a culture and a political order which seeks constantly and pervasively to shape our lives and influence our thought.

The 450th has already left its impact on the church. The vigor of Anabaptist research and writing has continued with greater impetus. The study of heritage, the expanded resource of printed publications, and the proliferation of artistic expressions through drama, music, and painting have focused new interest and attention. There is a new awareness of ideas which many had considered idealistic and academic. However, Anabaptist concepts of discipleship, brotherhood, and love are by no means consistently understood or mutually accepted even though they are now more widely known. Yet, the motif exists and it is becoming an increasingly common theme against which a multitude of questions are tested.

The preoccupation with Anabaptism as a cultural heritage versus a spiritual heritage has not necessarily been resolved. It may never be possible to totally isolate the Anabaptist ethic and concept from its cultural expressions, nor should we assume that it will be understood in a vacuum that is not defined by real-life expressions.

The Mennonite Church has habitually appealed to a common Anabaptist background to reinforce and support extremely varied options for the life of faith. For some that heritage affirmed isolation and nonconformity. For others it was the basis for support of certain cultural expressions. For still others it reinforced a strong concern for witness to and in the world. Numerous influences, quite varied and often contradictory, combined to produce very divergent shapes in the life of the church.

Now, in 1976, a series of issues are emerging which are focused by the 1975-76 sequence of anniversaries. But these also arise out of other factors. There is a growing readiness to agree that the opposing positions of generations past are inadequate. Those who rejected tradition and authoritarianism are sensing the loss of certain values. Those who sought to preserve the past are aware of the inadequacy of second-generation answers. Those who sought to express nonconformity in specific ways are aware how pervasive is the spirit of this world and those chiefly concerned with the agenda of this world are sensing the inadequacy of a lifestyle shaped by our times.

In troubled times, amidst perplexing issues, the people of God—citizens of Christ's kingdom—move on, learning, failing, confessing, and forgiving, but nonetheless recipients of God's abundant grace.

There is ferment and search, a wholesome and gratifying uneasiness. The questions are emerging with some clarity, but the issues are complex and hard to tackle. The Mennonite Church in 1976 cannot escape the influence and the significance of these continuing questions.

Questions and Issues in 1976

1. Structure and the Congregation. For the past several years, the Mennonite Church has been involved in restructuring its organization. There were varied expectations. For some it marked the move to a more respectable and better organized denominationalism. Others expected that centralized structures would emerge to shape churchwide priorities and allocations of funds. For still others, there were visions of a congregationally oriented fellowship which could function as a congregation of congregations.

It is evident that in the restructure one major concept has emerged with clarity and force. The centrality of the congregation has been affirmed as the basic dynamic of the church. This message has been heard and there is a growing awareness at the congregational level. A new force which focuses on the life of the gathered community is now at work.

But this immediately poses new and perplexing issues. Will our congregations lose their world vision for a new provincialism? Will each go its own way into diversity? Will we lose the larger unity? Can our churchwide institutions survive if congregations give priority to their newfound mission in their own communities?

The traditional shape of the congregation reflects its solid and integral place. It will not likely pass off the scene. But the search continues for new clarity in shaping the congregation and implementing their decisions.

2. What Is Community? The individualism of our times has shaped us in ways that we do not always comprehend. In the face of this pervasive influence, there is a growing search for meaningful community, for new personal relationships among brothers and sisters, and new models for mutual commitment and covenant. The gathered life is becoming an increasingly significant part of their total life. The search for identity and security, the quest for counsel and help, the desire for sharing of life and goods all contribute to a new sense of community.

3. Heritage: Cultural or Spiritual? It has been assumed that ours is a spiritual heritage. But this has been challenged by the growing multicultural character of the church. The emergence of congregations whose cultural roots are different have focused new issues. The mission of the church has been successful. But the response to this new cultural diversity is not so clear. The cultural conflicts and confrontations have identified not only the search for identity by other cultures, but a possessive attitude toward our own identity. The ideal of true integration in the church of Christ, where all are one, has precipitated a new search for the basis of our unity. We have come to a gradual awareness that our unity goes far deeper than cultural expressions. In fact, we see that our varied cultural expressions must serve to enhance and strengthen our unity, lead to reconciliation, and clarify the true basis of our unity in Christ.

The emergence of multicultural patterns and varied ethnic groups within the fellowship of the church is forcing us to reexamine our structure and style. A dominant, white Anglo culture is now confronted with substantial growing black and Latin communities. The tensions of this encounter will hopefully be fruitful as both apply the tests of Christian fellowship and discipleship to their respective concerns and directions.

4. Leadership Roles. There has been a trend away from and a certain rejection of the traditional charismatic leadership role — persons whose authority grew out of their call to an office, who had an integrity rooted in congregational and conference structures, and whose voice was respected because they expressed the needs and the mood of the people.

In their place, leaders now tend to be professionals with structured positions and defined specialized skills in a bureaucratic system. The church organization seems to be growing and expanding with less and less ownership by the congregation. The vocabulary, style, and philosophy is often beyond the understanding of many. The expansion of programs based on a growth philosophy, the calls for increasing budgets, and the trend toward public relations techniques create serious gaps in credibility and trust between the organization and the people.

The church is uneasy about the rapid change which it sees in the world as well as within the church. Instead of confidence, trust, and hope in an uneasy time, we tend to reflect the fears of the world. In the absence of strong leaders, diversity grows. The erosion of values and tradition are reflected in the church and many see the church's agenda as that of copying the process of social change.

Signs of Hope

But there is hope, because everywhere there are signs of ferment and renewal. The Spirit is at work in the church.

There is hope in the growing sense of community. The search for new models and shapes, the probing of new relationships, and the awareness of mutual discipline and fellowship are creating a new setting for significant and meaningful life in the church.

There is hope in a growing commitment. Awareness of the centrality of the congregation is accompanied by a growing sense of need for mutual sharing with a larger circle of congregations. Hence, the conferences are emerging with new strength and the Assembly is becoming more significant churchwide. The concern for the discussion of issues, the commitment to a process of study, the readiness to hear the voice of other congregations — these are new signs of strength and vitality. These point to a potential unity that is not based on organizations or structures.

There is hope in a growing sense of compassion. While some programs and projects seem to lose their appeal, other significant participatory and compassionate programs emerge. The involvement in Mennonite Disaster Service, the participation in relief sales, the contributions to hunger, all demonstrate a sense of involvement that reaches the lives of many people. The concept of service is sound and solid as it is personalized rather than institutionalized.

There is hope for renewal as conferences and churchwide agencies see the movement of the Spirit in the life of the church and then design their structures and programs to reflect and respond to that movement.

There is hope in the call for leadership, but humility will be required to recognize a leadership not limited to institutions.

The Frontier Before Us

But the frontier is still before us. Charity is still easier than justice. Loyalty is less costly than dissent. Material conformity is more acceptable than poverty. It is hard to see where we cross the line of obeying Caesar rather than God.

In troubled times, amidst perplexing issues, the people of God — citizens of Christ's kingdom — move on, learning, failing, confessing, and forgiving, but nonetheless recipients of God's abundant grace.

Regional Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite congregations according to the region in which they are located. Within each region congregations are listed alphabetically by state or province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite congregations which are listed in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Most of these congregations are members of district conferences; however, some ("Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations") are not related to any district or conference. Most participate in the regional activities and send delegates to the General Assembly; however, some do not. These factors are noted at the beginning of each regional listing.

Regional geographical areas, officers, and committees, as well as a summary of the conference affiliations of congregations, are noted with each region. Information regarding district conference organization, bishops/overseers and congregations is found in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" section of this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the meetinghouse of the congregation. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to locate or call the meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. All mail should be directed to the first person listed under that congregation in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor, or contact person of a congregation, should follow the information provided in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or there is data missing, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottsdale, PA 15683. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

Conference and District Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite congregations alphabetically by name of conference or district and congregation. The Conservative Mennonite Conference congregations are listed alphabetically by country and state. A few of the conferences and districts do not participate with regional planning groups nor send delegates to the General Assembly. Note that the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church and the Beachy Amish are listed in separate directories later in this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information needed to contact one person (pastor or contact person) for a given congregation by mail or phone without needing to consult other sections of the Yearbook. This person is noted with a number 1 after the ministerial status code. Ordained persons active in the congregation are also listed with each congregation. These carry a number 2. Ordained persons retired or without congregational responsibility are listed in paragraphs with the respective conference and district organizations. Ordained persons who carry district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities in addition to congregational duties are designated by the number 5. Ordained persons serving as chaplains and missionaries are listed in the "Ministerial Directory" only. The address and telephone number listed is that of the pastor or contact person, not the meetinghouse. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Regional Directory of Congregations" section of this volume. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

name of congregation	cong. number	cong. code	dist. conf. cross ref. no.	city, state/province	region	cong. members
Conrad Grebel	(01234)	(o)	(17)	Lombard, IL	(IV)	76
pastor/contact person	status-function
Menno B. Nite	BI-1
address	city, state/province	zip/postal code	telephone
1525 Zurich Way	Lombard, IL	60148	(312-620-7802)
additional persons with official duties in the congregation	status-function
Leslie V. Simons	MI-2
Lynn Z. Walpot	DE-2

Church Communities

Church communities is a broad designation for the house churches and intentional communities within the Anabaptist-Mennonite movement. Communities listed relate in a variety of ways to the Mennonite Church, as well as other churches and movements. Membership within each community is handled in a variety of ways. Some members also participate in other conference congregations. Communities which have a "zero" membership simply indicates that no membership was reported.

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations

The churchwide mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through the Boards listed below. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of periodicals, books, and curriculum materials. The 1976 combined askings of the churchwide agencies is $4,927,857. The average per-member amount needed by each of the agencies is as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries, $3.50; Mennonite Board of Missions, $45; seminaries, $6; colleges, $14; Mennonite Church General Board and Mennonite Board of Education combined asking, $2.25. This is a total asking of $70.75 per member average.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1882. Organized first in 1882 under the name "Mennonite Evangelizing Committee."

Purpose and function: The Board's basic objective is "to witness to the love of Jesus Christ and His salvation: proclaiming salvation, hope, and peace in Him; relating Christ's love to men's need everywhere; and drawing believers together in fellowship, nurture, and witness through His church." In carrying out this objective the Board functions in health and welfare, home missions, overseas missions, public communications, relief and service, and student services as the churchwide agency for missions and service.

Publications: Agape, a bimonthly for and about Voluntary Service; Mission-focus, a bimonthly, September through May, for church mission leaders and planners; and MissionQ, ten times yearly, for congregational mission leaders

Staff: Approximately 2,000 full-time persons in staff and field assignments in all divisions, with a total of 2,430 different persons involved. The Elkhart office staff numbers 55 persons, while Mennonite Broadcasts Division, Harrisonburg, numbers 36.

Annual Budget: $4,043,649 ($2,887,600 to come from contributions with $1,156,049 from other services)

Fiscal Year: February 1-January 31. Annual reorganization meeting is held in October.

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained persons who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America and the Overseas Mennonite Churches related to it. The information provided for each person is as follows: name; address; telephone; status and function; date of birth; date of ordination and/or license as deacon, minister, and/or bishop/overseer; congregational name and number (if person carries function No. 1); conference affiliation; and region in which the person lives. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable (for example, the category of region for Overseas Mennonite Churches), it is omitted. Codes used in this listing are noted below.

Every effort has been made to secure complete and accurate information for each person listed. However, the situation of persons may change or the information was not available at the time when it was gathered. It would be most helpful if each person would check the accuracy of the information that is listed. If there are errors and/or there is information missing, please send the correct and/or full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottsdale, PA 15683. Your help will make the Mennonite Yearbook a more useful and reliable tool for the brotherhood.

The Mennonite Hymnal

The reception and appreciation for The Mennonite Hymnal by both the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church have been especially gratifying. The quality of the hymns, the wide range of topics, the various kinds of music, and the Additional Worship Resources likely account for this fine acceptance.

Below are listed the titles of the main sections of the Contents of the Hymns section:

	Hymns		Hymns
God	88	Mission of the Church	41
Jesus Christ	116	Home and Family	17
The Holy Spirit	13	Times and Seasons	50
The Holy Scriptures	7	Gospel Songs	68
Life in Christ	147	Choral Hymns	25
The Church	47	Musical Aids to Worship	34

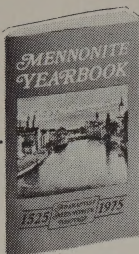

The Additional Worship Resources contain the following:

Scripture Readings	66	Congregational Responses . . .	10
Affirmations of Faith	4	Prayers	19

In addition there are eight well-prepared indexes to help you find the songs, tunes, meters, scriptural allusions, topics, and German songs in the book.

The Hymnal is printed in round and shape notes and is available in either regular binding or loose-leaf binding. Prices: $4.50 per single copy; $4.20 per copy in quantities of fifty or more. $6.75 for loose-leaf edition.

Orders may be sent to the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottsdale, Pa. 15683 or to your local Provident Bookstore.

Books for Citizens of Christ's Kingdom

Citizens of Christ's Kingdom: A Peace Education Resource Guide for Congregational Leaders by James Longacre

Prepared by the Congregational Peace Education Committee to assist congregations in exploring major themes related to the peace witness. The three themes include "Biblical Foundations for Peacemaking," "Peacemaking in the Family and Congregation," and "Peacemaking in the Social Order." Write to Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Avenue, Scottdale, PA 15683, for a free copy.

I Pledge Allegiance: Patriotism and the Bible by Paul S. Minear

This study guide is an opportunity for anyone to deal with the hard questions of what Christian faithfulness means in a national setting. It is extremely well conceived, the topics and questions well put, the point of view radically biblical. Nine discussions focus on civil religion, revolution, national pride, civil disobedience, amnesty, racism, a rich nation in a poor world, militarism, and the struggle with principalities and powers. Ten principles for "exploring controversial matters where faith and patriotism excite volatile emotions" are alone worth the price of the book. Westminster. Paperback $2.65.

What Belongs to Caesar? by Donald D. Kaufman

The author questions the responsibility Christians have to give to the government its tax demands for war. He examines biblical passages like "render to Caesar" and then presents three basic arguments against voluntary payment of war taxes. Herald Press. Paperback $2.95.

No King But Caesar? by William R. Durland

Although Caesar may demand unquestioning loyalty, Durland shows that the Christian's first and highest allegiance is always to Christ. Durland, a lawyer and university professor, searches the Scriptures and the writings of the early church fathers in his wrestling with the serious problem of violence and the church through the centuries. A convincing argument. Herald Press, $5.95.

The Politics of Jesus by John Howard Yoder

Yoder sees the meaning of Jesus' life and teachings as the foundation and norm for Christian ethics — especially in relation to the issue of the Christian's participation in violence. The author also examines the teaching of the early church, and completes his study in the Book of Revelation. Eerdmans. Paperback $3.45.

The Christian Way by John W. Miller

The Christian Way is a guide based on the Sermon on the Mount for living the Christian life. It provides a way of giving instruction to those who are beginning to explore the significance of Jesus' teachings for their newly acquired faith. The approach is to stimulate and aid the believer in a personal encounter with the teachings of Jesus. The focus is upon the significance of Jesus' words for our time. Here is a do-it-yourself book that is excellent for group study. Herald Press. Paperback $1.50.

Jesus and the Nonviolent Revolution by Andre Trocme

This French scholar begins with Jesus' proclamation of a new kingdom, then carries his exploration for truth into the Old Testament. He finds revealed the social and political programs contained in the teachings of Jesus. Scholarly, but quite readable. Herald Press. $7.95.
